

OFFICERS LOCATE THE MISSING GIRL

SIXTEEN-YEAR-OLD LASS HAD STARTED TO WHEEL INVALID
FROM HECKLAND, IN VIGO
COUNTY, TO INDIANAPOLIS—
WENT ALONG NATIONAL ROAD.

TURNED BACK AT PUTN'VILLE

C. L. Edmonson, of Heckland, a small town in the northeast part of Vigo county, was here Friday looking for Bertha Richards, a sixteen-year-old girl, who left home without her parents' consent a few days ago. The girl had started to walk to Indianapolis. She is supposed to have been lured from home by an invalid woman, whom she promised to wheel through to Indianapolis in a wheel chair.

Mr. Edmonson arrived here Friday morning. After consulting the authorities of this city he and Marshal Johns started out to search for the girl who was believed to be somewhere along the National Road near this city. An automobile was secured and they went to Putnamville through which the National Road runs.

After interviewing several people in Putnamville it was learned that the woman and girl had passed through there late Wednesday afternoon. They had stayed at the home of John Allee east of Putnamville on the National Road Wednesday night. The girl had deserted her companion early Thursday morning and started to walk back to her home by way of the National Road. Both the woman and the girl were penniless.

After communicating with the police at Brazil it was learned that the girl had passed through there a few hours before. She was bare-headed and was very poorly dressed. Mr. Edmonson, who had been sent in search of the girl by her parents, left immediately for Seelyville where he expected to overtake the girl.

It is supposed that the invalid woman had lured her from her home. Little was learned as to their intentions after they reached the capital city.

The people of Putnamville contributed enough money for the invalid woman to get to Indianapolis.

ENGAGEMENT OF DEPAUW GRADUATE ANNOUNCED

What proved to be one of the most elaborate 1 o'clock luncheon announcement parties was the one given by Mrs. J. B. LaPlante at her beautiful suburban home south of the city, Thursday, and the announcement of the engagement of Miss Margaret Nicholson and Wylie W. Fay of Nevada, Ia., was made. The announcement was made in a very charming manner. Cards were found under each napkin which bore the names of Miss Nicholson and Mr. Fay written with muriatic acid and when held over the candle blaze both names could be plainly read by the guests. An elegant five course luncheon was served. The table was handsomely decorated with smilax, tulips, bride's roses and ferns. The place cards were hand painted for get-me-nots. After the luncheon the afternoon was spent in sewing. Tea towels were hemmed for the bride-elect. Miss Nicholson became acquainted with Mr. Fay when both were in the wedding party of Mrs. Max Emmert, formerly Miss Virginia Kuykendall of Atlantic, Ia. Miss Nicholson acted as bridesmaid and Mr. Fay also took a part. Mrs. Emmert and Miss Nicholson were among the bridesmaids for Mrs. J. B. LaPlante's wedding. Mr. Fay is graduate of the State University of Iowa and is a member of the Sigma Nu fraternity, while Miss Nicholson is the accomplished daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Nicholson of Broadway street, and is quite popular in local society. The wedding will be an early spring event and will be a large affair.—The Vincennes Capital.

Miss Nicholson was a member of the DePauw class of 1911 and a member of Kappa Alpha Theta sorority. She has many friends in Greencastle.

MISS LILLIAN HAYS ENTERTAINS.

Miss Lillian Hays delightfully entertained a number of friends at her home on east Anderson street Friday evening with a dinner party in honor of Miss Jennie Mills of Indianapolis. The guests were seated at two large tables, which were very beautifully decorated with yellow chrysanthemums. An elegant six-course dinner was served.

The guests who were present were as follows: Misses Marjorie Campbell, Hazel Vermilion Ruth Fraeley, Jennie Mills of Indianapolis, Irene Selby Mildred Curtis, Frances McGregor, Lois Shouse, Helen Broadstreet, Mary Curtis, Mary Wade, Jessie Gobin, Clara Sharp and Helen Kelley; George Byrley, James Crouch, Victor Varner, Halstead Selby, Neil Booth, John Clarke Mitchell, Tillotson, Wallace Welch, Maurice Sharp, Benjamin Hopewell, Robert O'Hair, Stanley Barnett, Olin Varner, Ralph Overstreet and Clifford Warner.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Stewart are in Knightsville today to attend the funeral of Mrs. Susie Murphy, whose death occurred at the home of her sister, Mrs. Elizabeth Stewart of this city, Thursday night.

DEPAUW'S RECORD FOR THE SEASON

METHODISTS HAVE SCORED 135
POINTS AT FOOTBALL TO SO FOR ITS OPPONENTS—FOUR VICTORIES,
ONE TIE GAME AND TWO DEFEATS.

HAS A 600 PERCENTAGE

(BY WILLIAM W. FLEMING.)

The DePauw football schedule for this season has undoubtedly been one of the most successful if not the most successful schedule in the history of the institution. With four victories, a tie game and two defeats the Old Gold team to date has a percentage of .600.

The first game of the season has been the custom in recent years was played with Indiana at Bloomington September 27. Although it resulted in a 43 to 3 score in favor of the State School this can not be considered against the Methodists as they were forced to abide by the Conference ruling in regard to playing freshmen and were consequently greatly handicapped both in the number of eligible players and in the ineligibility of some of the star freshmen. Outweighed several pounds to the man and handicapped by the fact that Indiana was constantly sending in freshmen they put up a good game and during the first part of the contest the State School had to fight for everything they made.

Moore's Hill.
Moore's Hill was beaten in the second game of the season by the overwhelming score of 99 to 6. Owing to the presence of the freshmen in the lineup the team put up a much better appearance in this game although they were given no severe test on account of the weakness of the opposing team.

Franklin.
The next game on the schedule was played with Franklin at Greencastle on October 4. This game resulted in a 0 to 0 tie owing chiefly to the fact that the men were stricken with a slight case of overconfidence and did not begin playing football until the last two or three minutes of play and it was then too late to make a score possible.

Wabash.
October 18 the Old Gold team journeyed to Crawfordsville and took the Little Giants into camp by a 7 to 0 score. It was in this game that they began to show their real form and from here on the careful and efficient coaching of Coach T. A. Bogle began to be very much in evidence. Although DePauw has been able to tie the Presbyterians on more than one occasion this is the first victory that they have been accredited with for some time.

Ohio Wesleyan.
In the Ohio Wesleyan game Coach Bogle sent in a somewhat weakened lineup owing to the fact that Captain Grady, Gardner and Moore were kept out of play because they were not in the best of condition owing to the Wabash game. Coach Bogle kept them out to have them in condition for Rose Poly and the other games of importance in the state. The score was 19 to 0 for the Buckeyes.

Rose Poly.
Rose Poly was taken into camp on Old Gold Day to the tune of 14 to 7 in a pretty and hard fought exhibition of football. Although the Engineers were the first to draw blood the Gold team came back with a vengeance and easily outplayed Rose during the remainder of the game.

Butler.
The game with Butler at Indianapolis, although anticipated as the hardest secondary battle on the Old Gold schedule was won in easy fashion by a 12 to 0 score.

Scores of Games Played To Date.
Sept. 27.—Indiana, 48; DePauw, 3.
Oct. 1.—Moore's Hill, 6; DePauw, 99.
Oct. 11.—Franklin, 0; DePauw, 0.
Oct. 18.—Wabash, 0; DePauw, 7.
Oct. 25.—Ohio Wesleyan, 19; DePauw, 0.
Nov. 1.—Rose Poly, 7; DePauw, 14.
Nov. 8.—Butler, 0; DePauw, 12.
Opponents, 80; DePauw, 135.

CAPTAIN "DICK" GRADY.

Captain Grady! The man who has led the DePauw football team through victories to the secondary championship of the state. If any one on the Old Gold eleven this year has played the old army game it has been "Dick." In his last year with the school he has put up the best exhibition of hard hitting football in his four years' career here. He always has the pepper box handy and is a firm believer in it's use.

WAS "STRANDED" IN GREENCASLE

MARTINSVILLE, Ind., Nov. 21.—Dr. Frank F. Hutchins, of Indianapolis, a medical expert who was on the witness stand when court adjourned Wednesday, was to complete his evidence yesterday, but just before court called for order attorneys for the plaintiff, in the case of Lieutenant Chester Barnett to set aside the will of his grandmother Elizabeth Piersol received a telegram from Dr. Hutchins, at Greencastle, saying he was stranded there and would be in later. As other witnesses for the plaintiff were absent the plaintiff rested with the understanding the defense could proceed, the plaintiff to us the remaining witnesses when they came in.

At the noon hour Dr. Hutchins came in and when court reconvened a long hypothetical question was put by S. C. Kivett. The witness said, in his opinion Mrs. Piersol was of unsound mind.

Dr. Hutchins is well known here. His wife formerly was Miss Luella McWhirter, formerly of Greencastle.

A buggy and horse driven by Miss Marian Ostrom of this city, met in a collision with a coal wagon Friday afternoon at the corner of Vine and Walnut streets. The buggy and harness were damaged but Miss Ostrom was not injured. Miss Ostrom attempted to drive between a coal wagon, owned by Ferd Lucas, and a buggy that was standing nearby and collided with the coal wagon. The horse attempted to run but was stopped by an employee of the Marshal & O'Hair Feed store. The shafts of the buggy were broken and the harness was badly damaged.

FIRST WITNESS STILL ON STAND

WILDMAN DIVORCE SUIT PROM-
ISES TO BE A LONG DRAWN OUT
AFFAIR—WIFE HAS BEEN TEST-
IFYING FOR TWO DAYS—COURT
ROOM FILLED WITH WITNESSES

OF SENSATIONAL NATURE

The divorce suit of Orlena Wildman against Wesley Wildman, began in the circuit court Thursday, promises to be a long drawn out affair. Mrs. Wildman was the first witness placed on the stand. All day Thursday she testified.

No court was held on Friday but this morning she again was placed on the stand, and was still there late this afternoon.

The Wildman family lives near Cloverdale, and between thirty and forty witnesses have been summoned to testify in the case. The testimony is of a sensational character and many are attending the trial. The couple have been married twenty years.

Mrs. Wildman filed the suit for divorce on the grounds of cruel and inhuman treatment. Mr. Wildman then filed a counter charge alleging that his wife had treated him in a cruel manner. Each asks that a divorce be granted them.

McMAINS SAYS BELL THREATENED TO SHOOT

William McMains, who last Thursday struck and badly injured John Bell, with a pitch fork when the two men had some trouble in a road near Cloverdale, was in town today and told his side of the story. The two men had had trouble before over the question of a road line. When they met in the road the controversy was resumed. Bell became angry and threatened to shoot McMains, according to the story of the latter. When Bell reached into his hip pocket to get as McMains believed, a revolver the latter struck him over the head with a pitch fork, which he had on his wagon.

Bell was knocked down but soon got up. Mc Mains drove on down the road. Later Bell was taken to Cloverdale where his injuries were dressed. Mr. Bell is reported as getting along all right and it is now believed that his injuries will not be serious.

Mr. McMains came to town late on the afternoon of the trouble and retained Allee, James & Allee to defend him if he should be prosecuted for his act. So far no affidavit has been filed against Mr. McMains.

LOCALS DEFEAT STILESVILLE.

The Putnamville basketball team which was to play Stilesville on the Armory floor Friday night failed to make its appearance. A local team "stacked up" against the Stilesville lads and won handily by a 42 to 14 score.

The Stilesville aggregation was completely outclassed by the local lads. The Hendrick county boys have been practicing out of doors and were not accustomed to the floor and baskets on the local floor.

Crump, local forward, was easily the star performer of the evening, tossing the ball in the hoop from all angles on the floor, for a total of 11 baskets. Denman and Small played a good game for the locals while McHaffie showed up well for Stilesville.

The teams lined up as follows:
Greencastle. Stilesville
Denman .... Left Forward ..... Ray
Crump .... Right Forward ..... Bremer
Martin ..... Center ..... McHaffie
Coleman .... Right Guard ..... Masters
Small ..... Left Guard ..... Salling
Broadstreet.

GIRLS RUN AWAY FROM THE HOME

DECIDE THEY WILL GO OUT
AND EARN THEIR OWN LIVING—
SPENT THE NIGHT IN GREEN-CASTLE.

WERE FOUND THIS MORNING

Two Orphans' Home girls, Pearl Hamilton and Martha Elkins, aged 14 and 15, respectively, decided Friday evening that they would leave the home and go out to earn their own living. Without notifying Mr. or Mrs. Harcourt, who manage the home of their intentions the lassies slipped away late in the evening and came to Greencastle.

One of the girls has a sister working at the home of Mr. and Artie Call, near Fern, and the girls started to find this sister. They went to the home of Mrs. Fannie Walls on West Washington street at about 9 o'clock, Friday night, inquiring their way to Fern.

Mrs. Walls told the girls it was entirely too late and too dark for them to attempt to go to Fern that night and asked them to stay at her home until morning.

They accepted the invitation but were up early and off to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Call. Mr. and Mrs. Harcourt did not learn of the girls' disappearance until morning, when they notified Marshal Johns. The officer located the girls and this morning drove to the Call home and got them. They were taken back to the home.

The Dinner Club will meet this evening with Mr. and Mrs. Charles Barnaby.

CONGRATULATIONS FOR GOVERNOR RALSTON.

Telegrams and letters have been pouring in on Governor Ralston from citizens who extend their congratulations on the part he played in bringing about a truce in the Indianapolis street car strike. That the strike situation was followed with interest throughout the state is indicated by the fact that more than half of the letters are from persons living outside of Indianapolis. The letters were from Republicans as well as Democrats.—Indianapolis Star, (Prog.)

And then the Star quotes words of commendation sent to the governor by persons of all callings and political beliefs. It is now well known that the city of Indianapolis faced a dangerous situation which the local authorities either could not or would not control. Governor Ralston acted with the courage and firmness for which he is noted. There had been violence and loss of life. Property had been damaged, and there had been a loss of wages which the families of the men involved in the strike could not endure without great hardship. It was apparent that even more serious consequences might be expected. When Governor Ralston was convinced that the power of the state should be invoked he did not hesitate for a minute. The national guard was called, but it was not necessary to use it. The governor commanded the situation and all conflicting interests were submitted to him. He brought about an agreement for arbitration. At once condition became normal. The people, not only of Indianapolis, but of the state, owe to Governor Ralston a debt of gratitude. By his wise and tactful action he showed how easy it was, after all, to bring employers and employees together in a spirit of reasonableness and mutual concession.

Albany, Ore.—The plan of using uncleaned land for setting out walnut groves and letting goats clear the land while the trees mature is being tried by C. M. Giddings of Albany, who is setting out the biggest walnut orchard in the Pacific Northwest. Giddings expects to use between 350 and 400 acres of land in his scheme.

Tuberculosis in Prussia.
A remarkable decrease in the number of deaths from tuberculosis in the larger cities of Prussia within the last two decades is recorded. In 1886 the death rate in cities of over 100,000 inhabitants was 37.36 per 10,000; in 1902, it was only 22 per 10,000.

OLDEST RECORD
OF NOAH'S FLOOD

Nippur Clay Tablet of 2000 B. C.
Tells Story Very Like the Later Bible Narrative

DR. HILPRECHT IS DISCOVERER

Tablet is Among Fruits of 1899 Babylonian Expedition Preserved at University of Pennsylvania—New Proof of the Deluge.

Philadelphia.—Prof. Herman V. Hilprecht of the Department of Archaeology of the University of Pennsylvania has found among the tablets from the "Temple Library" of Nippur, a remarkable fragment containing a portion of the "Babylonian Deluge Story," this being, he says, the oldest extant reference to that event in writing, antedating the Bible narrative of the deluge by at least 1,000. The first announcement of this discovery was made by Prof. Hilprecht at the Acorn Club, when he gave a full account of the tablet and its translation and discussed its bearing on the other known cuneiform and other inscriptions referring to the deluge.

The following is Dr. Hilprecht's translation of this deluge tablet which was among the fragments unearthed by the 1899 expedition to Nippur.

..... Thee .....
(The confines of Heaven and Earth) I will loosen.

(A deluge I will make and) I shall sweep away all men together;
(But thou seek) life before the deluge cometh forth.

(For over all living beings,) as many as there are, I will bring overthrow destruction, annihilation
..Build a great ship .....

..Total weight shall be its structure. It shall be a houseboat carrying what has been saved of life, with a strong deck cover (it).

(The ship) which thou shalt make (into it bring) the beasts of the field, the birds of Heaven.

(And the creeping things, two of everything) instead of a number.
..Number, and the family, And....

The words inclosed in brackets in the translation are not found in the Cuneiform text, but have been supplemented by Prof. Hilprecht according to the context.

The fragment bearing the inscription is of unbaked clay, and measures 2.34 inches at its greatest width, 2.5 inches at its greatest length, and is seven-eighths of an inch thick. It is dark brown in color, and was originally inscribed on two sides, but one side is now broken entirely away, there being, however, a few characters preserved on the right edge, forming the ends of three overlapping lines from the missing side.

Prof. Hilprecht concludes that in its complete form the tablet must have been about 7 by 10 inches, and contained from 130 and 136 lines altogether. It bears no date, but from internal evidences, from facts furnished by other yet unpublished fragments, and from the position in which it was found, Prof. Hilprecht believes that it was written some time between 2187 and 2095 B. C.

Prof. Hilprecht explained the text as a portion of the divine command to the Babylonian Noah, Ut-Napishtim, to construct a ship and to save life from the all-destroying flood. In order to understand its unique value, however, it is important, he said, to know something of the corresponding passages from the known fragments of the Cuneiform deluge story, and from the Biblical narrative.

There are three of the Cuneiform fragments, two versions from Nineveh, dating from about 600 B. C., and an early Babylonian fragment in J. Pierpont Morgan's collection. A comparison of these and of the Biblical passages with the newly discovered Nippur version has brought out the significant fact that the Nippur version differs fundamentally from the two Nineveh versions, and agrees most remarkably with the Biblical story in very essential details, both as to contents and language.

The "Layard" deluge tablet in the British Museum, one of those dating from 650 B. C., agreed with the details of the Biblical narrative in only a few particulars. It was a pagan story of a deluge brought about at a council of the gods, who decided to destroy mankind. One of the gods was moved to save his protégé—the Noah of the story, and sent a dream of warning on which this Noah acted. This god excused his betrayal of the secret to the other deities by the explanation that he had not told—he had only "whispered through the mat"—that is, through the wall of the house on the other side of which his protégé slept, and to whom this dream was thus conveyed.

Moreover, Prof. Hilprecht observed in particular that this agreement affects that part of the Pentateuch (Genesis 6:13-20, 7:1-11), which Old Testament critics style the "priestly code," and generally regard as having been compiled in Babylonia about 500 B. C. He thinks that the deluge story of the Old Testament must form part of the oldest traditions of Israel, and that it must have entered Canaan at the time when Abraham left his home on the Euphrates and moved westward.

TWO KINDS OF DOUBT

SAYS PROF. ECKHART

AT Y. M. C. A. LAST NIGHT

"There are two kinds of doubt," declared Dr. Eckhart before the Young Men's Christian Association at its regular meeting last night in his talk on "Doubt." "There is a doubt that makes for life and a doubt that makes for death. There is a doubt out of which comes strong foundations and a doubt that brings destruction. It isn't doubt that matters; it is the kind of doubt."

The speaker enumerated five causes for doubt which he said were especially applicable to college students.

In closing the speaker said concerning our attitude toward doubt, "We should study the doubt of our selves and our fellowmen before we condemn it. We can condemn no man until we understand him. We cannot condemn ourselves until we understand ourselves. If we will but study our own doubt with careful analysis our doubt will soon no longer bother us and pass away."

JUNIOR ANNUAL TO BE

DEDICATED TO BARNES,

DECIDES MIRAGE BOARD

That this year's Mirage will be dedicated to Prof. N. W. Barnes, has finally been decided by the Mirage Board.

Business Manager Guthrie is just bringing to a close his campaign for $1,000. In order that the contracts may be let, the money must all be collected so a heavy campaign for junior and senior assessments is being carried on.

The first form of the book has been made up and copy will be sent to the engravers as soon as the contracts are let.

Contracts have already been received from a number of engraving and printing houses and provided the money can be collected before then the contracts will be let Monday.

The book this year will feature athletics and about 75 pages will be given to this department. It will also contain several new departments and the board hopes to make it a "comer."

The order of the departments has been radically changed and the shape will be somewhat altered.

A considerable quantity of the art work is already in and will be sent to the engraver immediately after the contract is let.

FORT WAYNE EDITOR WILL

TALK INFORMALLY TO ALL

STUDENTS OF JOURNALISM

Clifford R. Lipkey, manager editor of the Fort Wayne Journal-Gazette, will give a strictly informal talk to all DePauw students interested in newspaper work Monday night at 6:30 o'clock in Plato Hall. Mr. Lipkey stated when questioned concerning his subject that he would not limit himself to any one phase of newspaper work, but would attempt to give a short outline of what a college graduate should know when he enters the newspaper game.

"I will read no paper, or bring a prepared address, but will attempt to answer any questions the fellows wish to ask, and give them any information possible concerning their branch of college work," said Mr. Lipkey.

Following the talk the members of Sigma Delta Chi will adjourn to the Phi Gamma Delta house for an informal smoker, where they can talk more freely with Mr. Lipkey.

TWO PREP PLAYERS OUT IN GAME WITH EAST BROWNSBURG

Prep football warriors have been working hard since the Brazil game to re-organize their team and fill the vacancies in the line-up caused by injuries.

Wass, quarterback and Hendricks center, who are both experienced players, are out of the game for the rest of the season with injured hands and all of the team are more or less bruised.

Gifford will probably be used at quarter against Brownsburg high school Saturday. Shelby and Swarthling will play the halfback positions, and Whipple, full. The line will probably be as follows: Singleton, capt., and Trader, ends; Allen and Groer, tackles; Huckleberry and Goodwell, guards; Hopper, center.

The Academy men intend to put up a stiff fight against Brownsburg, and although the visitors have the 'rep' of being the best high school eleven in the state the Preps hope to spring a surprise on them.

A Rooter is a wild eyed, leather lunged person who says all kinds of excited things to the team and sometimes makes impolite remarks to the officials. A real Rooter, if near broke, spends his last penny to go to a game and support team and when entirely bankrupt has even been known to hop a freight.

If you wish to become a Rooter the college yells go out in the woods and practice all alone, get a box of throat lozenges, and then—go to it! Although freshmen are as a general rule supposed to be seen and not members of the faculty boosting? Are they should be ardent Rooters not only for the benefit of their lungs but also for the good of the team.

SOCIALISM IS ON THE WAY

Prof. Carver, of Harvard, Doesn't Regard it as a Cure-All, but Thinks it Will Help Some.

Cambridge, Mass.—Prof. Thomas Nixon Carver of the economic department at Harvard asserts that socialism is a factor to be reckoned with in the industrial life of the future, and although he does not believe it a lasting remedy for existing conditions, he thinks it will act as a mild preventative for many encroachments on the working people.

Prof. Carver says: "The 'trusts', although sometimes so called, are not a product of evolution. They were produced by the turbulent and uncertain conditions that prevailed prior to their organization and still prevail to-day. I challenge any one to prove that the trusts, or any one of them, has proved more efficient in lowering the cost of production than individual concerns. They have, however, been able to lower the cost of distribution through their control of the markets and by taking advantage of special conditions."

"The capitalists are doing the very thing that is likely to bring about their own destruction, for they are by their present course continually adding to the dissatisfaction. The minute the dissatisfied among the proletariat outnumber the satisfied ones, then socialism will come. I believe, however, that any such happening would be a disaster."

SUCKERS DISTURBED FARMERS.

Thousands of Fish Make Strange Noise in Trying to Ascend Dam.

Monticello, N. Y.—Myriads of suckers which have infested Smith Meadows Brook, near Monticello, Sullivan County, have been the cause of great disturbance to the farmers living near the brook. A mysterious thumping noise, heard all through the night, had caused many to believe that ghosts from the nearby graveyard were prowling about the neighborhood.

The origin of the sounds was not discovered until Dewitt Olmsted, a little braver than his neighbors, sought to determine whence the noises came, and after dark crept down to the water, taking a stand near an old dam which crosses the stream in the rear of his house.

Below this dam, where the water falls into a pit, he found thousands of suckers trying to reach the pond above by swimming up the falls. He also learned to his astonishment that the fish in their repeated endeavors to shoot the chutes seldom succeeded, while scores of the largest ones would furiously butt their heads into the thumping noises which had so disturbed the peace and quiet of the neighborhood.

The only solution of the trouble was to destroy a portion of the dam, which was promptly done and the fish allowed to move on up stream unobstructed.

UNDER THE SEA TO THE POLE.

Dr. Kemp of Germany Building a Submarine to Rival Capt. Nemo.

Berlin, Germany.—The old idea of reaching the north pole by submarine, as was so graphically set forth in Jules Verne's story of "Twenty Thousand Leagues Under the Sea," has been revived by the announcement that Dr. Anschutz Kemp, the well known inventor, has resolved to make the attempt.

It is said that he has been working for a decade upon the project and that he will build a submarine of his own design. It will be capable, it is asserted, of remaining under water at a great depth for a long period.

Dr. Kemp has also invented and patented in all civilized countries the different apparatus by means of which he hopes to take his soundings and bearings when deeply submerged.

WHY THE PIG WHISTLED.

On Being Cut Up a Piece of Spring Was Found in Its Throat.

Bloomington, Pa.—Daniel Howell has found out why his pig whistled. He says that for weeks prior to butchering time the hog would invariably start whistling at feeding time, and this brought all the other hogs to the trough; they got to expecting it and the food that followed.

Howell was puzzled over that whistle until the porker, a fine one, was cut up, and there in its throat was a section of a spring such as is found in the roller of a window curtain.

A Posthumous Letter.

El Paso, Tex.—"Jerry" Faust, an employee of the Southern Pacific Railroad, just received a letter which was addressed to him at Pittsburgh. It was written and mailed at Blanchard, Penn., on July 2, 1876, by his step-mother, Mrs. Mary Still. Faust left Pittsburgh many years ago. His step-mother has been dead fifteen years.

Skunk Safe in Massachusetts.
Boston.—A bill was considered which is to impose fines up to $500 and imprisonment up to a year on any one who kills in the State of Massachusetts that well known little animal which is described as "a member of the Mephitis mephitis family of American musteloid carnivores, ordinarily known as the skunk."

Will on Small Piece of Pasteboard.
Reading, Pa.—On a piece of pasteboard two inches by one and one-half in dimensions, the late P. Frank Handman disposed of an estate of $10,000, of which $7,000 represents life insurance. The will contains these words: "All I possess, real and personal, belongs to my wife absolutely at my death."

Short Sermons FOR A Sunday Half-Hour

LOVE OF CHRIST.

BY THE REV. JUSTIN D. FIELD.

II Corinthians v:14: "The love of Christ constraineth us."

On the basis of the thought in Longfellow's poem, "Excelsior," I would remind you of the youth who the lofty Alpine height would climb. The wayside happy homes, with fires gleaming warm and bright, in contrast to the cold and dangerous glaciers before the old man with his warnings of the lowering tempest and the roaring torrent overhead; the pleadings of the maiden to rest his weary head upon her breast; the peasant's last good by to beware the awful avalanche, all tended to tempt the youth aside from his quest. But there was that within him that constrained him onward, notwithstanding all; and brushing aside the impending obstacles in his course, would ever reply "Excelsior," meaning "onward, ever upward!"

It is a pleasure to point to some possible heights of glorious victory; and then to direct you to that Force that can constrain you onward past all possible weaknesses, and indifference, faintheartedness and the impending obstacles, ever onward, until it has placed you upon the height of that coveted goal.

The love of Christ can thus constrain us:

First, take the love of the text. There are three possible interpretations. Christ's love for us; our love for Christ; or Christ's love in us. All three in part may have their bearing, but primarily, after careful consideration, we must admit that it is only Christ's very love in us that can thus constrain. Now take the word "constrain." What picture does the word present? It is the Greek word sun-echo. In Acts vii:57 this same word is rendered "They stopped their ears." In Luke vii:46, "Master, the multitude through thee"; in Luke xlii:63, "The men held Jesus," and in Philippians i:23, "I am in a strait betwixt the two." Thus in the picture of the people pressing their ears, that of Christ in the center and the multitudes pressing on all sides; in the man holding Christ fast as a prisoner, and that of Paul held so bound between the courses that he could not move in either direction, we see the picture of the word constrain. It is that of a force irresistibly hedging us up within a certain sphere, controlling us with such a constancy that whether we will or not we must keep within that course. In the physical realm we see the picture in the great forces ruling the planets and compelling them into their orbits, in which every one of them must move. A force thus firing the brain, stirring the blood and thrilling all the fibers of one's being, until that man bends every energy in pursuing a prescribed noble pathway of life—there is nothing more important for our consideration in all the realm of human life.

The pathway into which the love of Christ thus impels us is the height of victory to which I would point you for our work together. But what is the path of Christ's constraining love? That picture in its entirety would be beyond the power of man to depict. But press an acre of red roses together and you have one golden globe, attar of roses. Compress many acts of love together and you have something deeper than love or the golden globe, "compassion." And compress the whole picture of Christ's constraining pathway together, and you have one golden word, "Calvary." And in holding that green hill far away, outside the city wall, and that Christ-buried cross reaching up to heaven from its summit, and you behold, in compressed form, the whole picture of the constraining pathway of the love of our Lord.

But, whereas I cannot give the full picture, I will at least emphasize a few elements that enter into its construction. Sometimes church success is hindered by a feeling of "We can't." There are three kinds of people: the can'ts, the won'ts and the wills. The can'ts fall in everything; the won'ts oppose everything; the wills succeed in everything. "I can't! It is impossible," said a lieutenant to Alexander, after failing to take a stronghold from the enemy. "Begone!" thundered the mighty Macedonian. "There is nothing impossible to him who wills to try," and then back goes the lieutenant to sweep the foe from the stronghold. The difference between his failure and success was the difference between his thinking he "couldn't" and that he "could." The love of Christ throbbing in a church compels that church to believe that it "can." That all things are possible to him who will believe. And the difference between failure and victory in a church is the difference between feeling that it "can't" or believing that it "can."

Let the love of Christ into our work, and He will impel us to the realization of glorious heights.

The Lord is with you while ye be with Him; and if ye seek Him, He will be found of you; but if ye forsake Him, He will forsake you. 2 Chron. 15:17

SKULL OF WOMAN 600,000 YEARS OLD

Prof. Keith Announces Conclusions on Prehistoric Find at Gibraltar

SAYS THAT SHE COULD TALK

Had Palate One-third Larger Than Female of To-day, and Lived on Nuts and Roots—Had Large Nose and Prominent Eyes.

London.—Prof. Arthur Keith, curator of the Museum of the Royal College of Surgeons, who has been engaged in the examination of the famous prehistoric skull unearthed at Gibraltar some years ago, announced that the skull is that of a woman who must have lived at least 600,000 years ago.

The Gibraltar skull has been the object of the examination of many scientists and of many theories. Keith approached the task of lifting the veil from its past with a new system of intricate measurements and all the resources of science at his back, and has compared the skull with all other available prehistoric relics.

"I have little doubt but that the skull is that of a woman," he said, discarding technicalities. "From the size of her brain she must have been shrewd, probably a woman, too, of considerable spirit. One can reckon pretty accurately also the time at which she lived. It must have been at least 600,000 years ago.

"From the jaws and the fact that the muscles of mastication are remarkably strong it is possible to deduce what this prehistoric woman ate. Nuts and roots probably entered very largely into her diet.

"Men 600,000 years ago were without doubt long armed and their legs short, and they had abnormally thick necks. It is clear, too, I think, that their brains were far larger than has been conceded. It seems reasonably certain that they were able to speak to each other. From my examination of the brain cavity of the Gibraltar skull I have been able to deduce quite clearly that the cells controlling speech were there.

"The prehistoric woman's skull indicates that she had a large nose. Her eyes, too, were much more prominent, and her palate one-third larger than that of the woman of to-day."

BAD TEETH MAKE CRIMINALS.

So Chicago Health Commissioner Says, and Gives His Reasons.

Cleveland, Ohio.—That bad teeth play an important part in the making of criminals was the theory presented by Dr. Evans, Health Commissioner of Chicago, who addressed the dental convention. The convention was called to inaugurate a national campaign for the better care of teeth among school children and to teach them how to chew their food properly. Dr. Evans declared the physical and moral conditions of any individual are closely allied and that faulty teeth in children meant imperfect indigestion, with consequent detriment to their morals. He urged the importance of the dentition of school children being strictly watched.

AS TO MATINEES.

Chicago Women Vote on Proposed Change of Time.

Chicago.—Out of 581 votes cast by women at a matinee to determine at what hour they would prefer to have all matinees in Chicago begin, 183 voted for 1.30 o'clock. Some of the reasons for the early hour written on the ballots by the women were: "To enable me to be home early so that my husband will not know I have been out." "So I can cook supper on time."

More than two hundred women were in favor of keeping the time at 2.15 o'clock, and eighty-two declared it was impossible for mothers with children in school to get down to the theatre until a later hour.

CROW BUTTS A LOCOMOTIVE.

Pottstown, Pa.—While his train was running at high speed through Loraine, Edward Gessler, engineer of a Reading Railway express, was startled by the crashing of the glass in his cab, against which a crow that came flying across the tracks had dashed. Gessler almost had his eyes cut out by the flying glass. He was painfully cut in the face.

Pigeons at Fancier's Funeral.

Allentown, Pa.—When the body of Allen F. Selp, a noted pigeon fancier, was being lowered to the grave his large flock of pigeons flew over the cemetery and settled down in the vicinity of the grave. Some people declare it a mere coincidence, while others believe the birds, with real emotion, came to pay their last respects to their dead master.

Bull Helps Get Himself Out of Well.

Port Washington, Wis.—On the Kleckhafer farm, near Mequon, a bull fell into a twenty-foot well in which were several feet of water. On the suggestion of a farm hand it was decided to put hay into the well and let the animal step on it and thereby work its way up. This was done and in two hours the animal was on top. Three tons of hay were required.

OTHELLO REVERSED IN HAYTI

Shakespeare Brought Up to Date Has the Moor White and Desdemona a Pretty Black Girl.

Berlin.—An amusing performance of "Othello" in Port au Prince, Hayti, is reported by a correspondent of the Hamburger Nachrichten.

With the exception of Othello himself, who "was impersonated by a European," all the actors and actresses were natives, Desdemona being played by a handsome young negro girl. The stage manager had deemed it useful to transfer the scene of the play from Venice to a prosperous city in the United States, while the jealous lover was introduced not as a noble Moor but as a thriving American merchant.

With the exception of these slight alterations the play itself remained the same as in the original, and this unfortunately led to some disorder. In the last scene, when the audience beheld the swarthy Desdemona being smothered by her white-faced husband, they protested indignantly, and hurled missiles at the stage.

The situation was saved by a luminous thought on the part of the manager, who after requesting the spectators to refrain from expressing their opinions until they had seen the end reserved for Othello, ushered in three natives, who fell on the pale rascal, knocked him down and then trampled on him, amid boisterous cheering from the house.

Society Women Form a "Rolling Club" to Reduce their Fat.

Muskogee, Okla.—Muskogee has a Roller club. Its members are all young women and they roll themselves to reduce their flesh. They belong to the best society of the town.

It all started from a pretty but over-plump society woman astonishing her friends by a marked change in her form. Then she explained that she did it by rolling, which was still more mystifying until she explained further. She said that she began by rolling over and over on the floor as a morning exercise, and that she found that it reduced flesh rapidly.

The result was the immediate organization of the Rollers' Club, composed of society matrons and maids who are inclined to obesity. The members, in kimonos or other garments, lie down and roll over and over. One hundred rolls is a morning's work. One young woman uses a kimono costume, because she finds it does not wrap around and bind the limbs.

SUICIDE FEVER IN RUSSIA.

Three Girls, One Heiress to $10,000, Die Together.

St. Petersburg, Russia.—The sensational suicide here of three young girls belonging to the best circles, who took their lives together, has created a great stir. It has again focused attention on the continuing epidemic of self-destruction, which is believed to be due to neurasthenic melancholia.

In this instance, two sisters named Kolmann, aged twenty and sixteen years, and Miss Lauric, heiress to ten million dollars, met and after one had played Chopin's Funeral March all three drank poison and died.

They left letters saying they were tired of life. No other motive is known.

There has been an astonishing number of similar suicides recently. In one day no less than twenty-nine cases were reported, among them sixteen women and three children.

THE BLINDING HATPIN.

Eye Put Out by It in Brussels, Belgium—Damages in Case.

Brussels.—A court here has awarded $2,000 damages to a man who was blinded in one eye by a woman's hatpin. He was standing on the platform of a street car, which stopped with a jerk, causing the hatpin to pierce his eye.

The damages were assessed equally against the woman and the car company, each being condemned to pay $1,000.

Hit on the Head, Now Stutters.

Pittsburg.—Greatly hampered by stuttering in describing a poolroom row, after spending several weeks in the hospital, Joseph Ruprecht told a magistrate how he became a confirmed stutterer. Ruprecht had been struck on the head with a billiard cue and knew nothing more until he found himself in the hospital. There physicians tried in vain to repair his speech. He has sued Joseph Sisky, whom he charges with striking him.

Teach Children to Chew Food.

Cleveland, Ohio.—Believing that proper mastication of food has become a lost art, members of the National Dental Society started a country-wide movement to teach the children of the public schools how to chew. The plan is to have each child's mouth examined, teeth treated if necessary, and instructions given in the proper manner of using the jaws.

Washington's Will, Faded.

Washington, D. C.—George Washington's will, written by himself on more than twenty pages, has been brought here for renovation. For more than a century it has been on view in Fairfax, Va. The paper has darkened to a rich shade of brown and the ink faded to a sickly olive tint.

MAD GANDER SAVED CHILD FROM DEATH

Caused an Automobile to Upset as it Nears Baby in the Roadway

THE GROUCH REDEEMS ITSELF

Fowl, a Terror for Ten Years, Inadvertently Does One Good Act and Dies—Tale of a Cantankerous Bird with An Evil Eye.

Montville, N. J.—A bad tempered old gander, known to everybody in the village as "The Grouch," redeemed a bad reputation of ten years standing, and at the same time lost its life, in saving Agnes Stilton, 3 years old, from death under the wheels of an automobile.

When the child was ready to go out and have her usual romp in the little-frequented road the hired man chased the gander into the smoke house and closed the door by means of an old fashioned wooden button. It was necessary to take this precaution inasmuch as there was nothing "The Grouch" liked so much as to pursue the little girl with flapping wings and shrill squaws. In this way every time it had a chance it would frighten her into the house, leaving it in undisturbed possession of the road.

Whether the smoke house door was not buttoned tight or the gander squeezed through a crack, or flew out a window, is not known, but at any rate Agnes had not been playing long when "The Grouch" sailed into the road, raising the dust, hissing and flapping its wings, and making for her with all its might.

"Mamma!" cried the child in terror, shielding its face with its outspread hands.

Just then a touring car, driven by Harold Grant of East Orange, rounded the sharp turn in the road. The barn stands at the turn, cutting off the view in both directions. The road rarely is used by automobiles, and this is the reason why the Stilton child was permitted to play there. Grant was going fast on a level stretch, and as he swept around the turn the old white gander stood up so large in his startled vision he did not see the fleeing girl beyond. The gander's neck was stretched to its full extent and the wings were spread wide apart.

That was no time to stop, and when, an instant after seeing the goose, Grant spied the little girl ahead, he let out a yell of alarm that brought all the folk out of the Stilton farmhouse on the rush. The East Orange man involuntarily closed his eyes to avoid witnessing the tragedy he felt, as he said afterward, was sure to happen.

But it didn't. The automobile struck the gander full tilt, but the impact swerved the front wheels out of their course, and by the time "The Grouch" had come down, lifeless, from its skyrocket flight, the auto had darted diagonally across the road and was lying upside down in the ditch. Grant had instinctively let go the steering wheel at the psychological moment, and he shot over the top of a post-and-rail fence and stuck, feet up, in a pile of fertilizing material. He lost no time in withdrawing his head from the mess, and then fell on his knees and prayed—just why, he says, he doesn't know.

As for Agnes, all had happened so quickly she hadn't had time to be scared at anything but the mean old gander. She whimpered a bit when she saw how thoroughly and completely dead the gander was. Then she stood and watched her father and other persons right the automobile and set it on its way. "The Grouch" is to be stuffed and mounted.

"The bird ain't deserving of it," said Stilton, "but, it saved my girl's life, though it didn't mean to, and I'll do a good turn."

"The Grouch," which in its younger days was called "Peter," was for more than a decade a terror, not only to the other fowl in Farmer Abner Stilton's barnyard, but also to Mrs. Stilton and all the children in the neighborhood. It was a cantankerous bird with an evil eye, and when it got after either dog or child there was sure to be some tall running to get out of the way.

Stilton's Muscovy duck, "Sarah Jane," was the only living thing with wings that even put up a fight. When "The Grouch" and "Sarah Jane" got going everybody flocked to hear the noise and see the feathers fly. Several years ago the gander chased a tomcat up a hemlock tree by the well, and kept it there until the cat was attacked and killed by a large hawk.

Bayonet for Cavalry.

Berlin.—According to a statement just published it is probable that the German cavalry sabre will shortly disappear and be replaced by a new short side arm which can be used as a bayonet with the new pattern cavalry carbine. The military authorities consider that for cavalry armed with the lance for fighting at close quarters on horseback, and with the carbine and bayonet for fighting on foot, the sabre would become superfluous. The value of the carbine combined with the new side-arm for cavalry work has already been proved in fighting in German Southwest Africa.

THE TIMBER SUPPLY MUST DEPEND ON PRIVATE FORESTS

WASHINGTON, Nov. 22.—After the remaining virgin timber of the United States is exhausted, forest supplies will have to come from national forests, state forests, or from privately owned land; but federal and state forests, according to E. A. Sterling, Director of the American Forestry Association, who addressed the national conservation congress this afternoon, constitute only one-fifth of the total forests area of the country.

"On private lands," he says, "the timber of the future will be either such growth which has sprung up voluntarily on cutover land and has managed to escape fire, or that from areas which have been devoted to forest production as a business enterprise. So far the practice of private forestry has been mainly confined to small operations, often more for pleasure than for profit. An extensive forest policy on a scale large enough to establish its commercial feasibility has not yet been undertaken.

"Private forestry in the United States has been retarded by many influences among which the more important are large stored-up timber supplies, comparatively low stumpage and lumber values, lack of market for many minor forest products, and a public sentiment which has not realized that forest production is essentially the growing of successive crops.

"Present tendencies in private forestry indicate a more logical development than at any time since forest conservation became an issue. Instead of attempting to put immediately into effect complete policies and an intensive management which are scientifically correct, the things now being attempted are the logical steps which will ultimately lead to systematic, long-time management of private forest lands. The private owner is learning that fire protection is possible and that it pays. With this fact established, other things will be taken up and worked out until the progressive timberland owner will find that he is practicing the kind of forestry that pays in this country.

"In a word, private forestry, as it can be properly practiced in the United States today, is not the intensive forestry of Germany, but the application of protective and close utilization measures with provisions for natural regeneration. These principles, applied as economic conditions permit will build up the art and practice of forestry in America."

HOW HE KNEW.

Not Necessary for Him To Be a Student of Physiognomy.

The lady had nothing less than a sovereign to offer the car conductor for his fare. He had not sufficient change, and it was arranged that he should "see her again."

"That's a penny of the ratepayers' hard earned money lost," said a wag to the conductor when she left the car at Market Street.

"Na, na. She'll come back and pay me all right," replied the conductor.

"You know her, I suppose?" "Not me. I never saw her before; but she has a good, honest face."

"Ah, my boy, women's faces are deceptive. You should never trust in them."

"Oh, aye, but she'll be back with her penny."

"You seem very confident. Are you a student of physiognomy?"

"I've more than her face to go by," said the conductor, with a smirk, and pointing to the corner of the seat with his thumb. "She's forgotten her gold-headed umbrella."

His Natural Inference.

Prof. Barrett Wendell of Harvard lightened with an anecdote an English lecture.

"There was a certain instructor," he said, "who was always impressing upon his students the need of perspicuity."

"A young man came to him one day to get back an essay that had been submitted."

"A very good essay," said the instructor, as he returned the paper, "but, Mr. Smith, you should write always so that the most ignorant person can understand every word you say."

"The young man looked up anxiously."

"What part of my essay was not clear to you, professor?" he asked.

—Los Angeles Times.

It Depended.

"What are you going to do with the dog, my little man?" "I—I'm going to see where he wants to go first."

The Favored Woof.

The roses that I sent were red. The other chaps were white; My heart is torn with doubt and fear— Which will she wear to-night?

I hear her step upon the stair My fortunes to disclose; My lady comes, but, oh, gee whizz! Whose violets are those?

—New York Herald.

Automobiling for the Poor.

"Are you going to get the automobile which the doctor ordered for your wife?"

"Can't afford it, but we have almost the real thing. She puts on a pair of gasoline cleaned gloves, takes a long, long ride on the front seat of a trolley car, and walks back."—Life.

Easy Existence.

The little folks, they have no care, No thought to life they give; Kind nursery doth their food prepare— It is on pap they live.

And when some little folks are grown They do not lose their snap; They do not hustle for their own But live along on pap.

It Had Its Points.

A clergyman was visiting an old man who had recently lost his wife, a great talker, and was sympathizing with him. "My poor old man," he said, "I feel so sorry for you, you must be very lonely." After a few minutes the old man looked up and said: "Yes, master, yes, 'tis lonesome," then with great emphasis, "but 'tis quiet."—The Bystander.

So There Now!

"Jack, that old friend of yours told me he remembered me when I wore my dresses up to my knees."

"He did, eh? What did you say to that?" asked her husband.

"Why, I told him I didn't care if he did!"—Detroit Free Press.

DEPAUW LEADING THE QUAKER TEAM

At the end of the second quarter of the DePauw-Earlham game being played on McKean Field this afternoon, the DePauw team was leading by a score of 12 to 0.

This was the last game of the season for DePauw who easily won the State Secondary Championship, having defeated every secondary college team excepting Franklin, which played the Methodists to a scoreless tie.

The score:

First Quarter.

DePauw, 0.

Earlham, 0.

Second Quarter.

DePauw, 12.

Earlham, 0.

PREPS DEFEAT BROWNSBURG.

The DePauw Academy football team won from the fast Brownsburg high school team by the close score of 7 to 6. Trdaer, the Academy right end, recovered a fumble made by the Brownsburg men and raced 60 yards for a touchdown. Gifford kicked goal and saved the game for the local team. Both teams put up a scrappy game and were about evenly matched.

A certain well-known Bostonian has been married long enough to have acquired the average man's cynical attitude in respect of the written expressions of devotion indulged in before marriage.

One day the Hubberts was going over with his wife a mass of useless papers that had accumulated in the household. They unearthed several large boxes full of love letters. After a hasty glance at them, the husband said:

"No use keeping this junk, I suppose? Here it goes."

The wife was hurt. "Oh, Clarence," exclaimed she, "how can you be so brutal? Surely you don't want to destroy your own love letters to me?"

"Well, keep 'em, if you want 'em," cheerfully assented the husband, "but, honestly, Helen, these seem too soft to file!"

Suspicious Evidence.

At the recent meeting of the American Bar Association, the subject under discussion was suspicious evidence and how much it was worth.

"Such evidence," remarked the new president, Frederick W. Lehman, "reminds me of the following incident: 'A pretty girl in a hammock slung in an apple orchard awoke suddenly and frowned at the young man who stood before her.'

"You stole a kiss while I was asleep," she exclaimed.

"Well," stammered the young man, "you were sleeping so soundly—you looked so pretty, so tempting, I—yes, I admit I did take one little one."

The girl smiled scornfully.

"One!" said she. "Humph! I counted seven before I woke up!"

DRAWING THE LINE.

Mrs. Waffles—Why won't you stand up a few minutes and let me drape my new skirt on you?

Mr. Waffles—Look here, my dear, I always said you'd never make a model husband of me.

Aesop in "Little Italy."

A school-teacher in the Italian quarter of an American city told her children the story of the fox and the grapes. Tony was especially delighted with the story, and eagerly sought his chum, Joe, who was in another class. By good luck, the teacher overheard Tony's version.

In his excited, broken English he told the fable much as it is written, until he came to the end. This was his rendering of the climax:

"De olda fox he say, 'Da grapo no good, anyhow; alla sour! I guess I go geta de banana!'"

Breaking It Gentily.

A young artist once persuaded Whistler to come and view his latest effort. The two stood before the canvas for some moments in silence. Finally the young man asked timidly: "Don't you think, sir, that this painting of mine is well—er—tolerable?"

Whistler's eyes twinkled dangerously.

"What is your opinion of a tolerable egg?" he asked.

BUT A SLIGHT CHANGE IN HOG QUOTATIONS

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Nov. 22.—Changes in local hog quotations yesterday were narrow compared with fluctuations earlier in the week. Opening prices were steady with Thursday, but after the shipping demand had been satisfied the price declined about 5 cents. The loss applied to the bulk of sales. Receipts were estimated at 10,000. Other markets were steady to a shade lower. The top here was generally quoted at $8.05. The general market spread from $7.70 to $7.90. The closing was slow, but not much out of line with first sales and there was a fairly strong clearance of the receipts.

Cattle Market Steady.

Cattle continued slow, but were generally steady, though almost everything is lower than at the opening of the week. As compared with Thursday the steer market showed no change and cows and heifers also sold about steady. A good run of calves found a fairly strong outlet and sold at a range of prices extending from 10c to 10½c, which represents a steady market. Sheep and lambs also held unchanged, lambs selling as high as 7c and sheep topping at 4c. Calves are about steady with a week ago, but sheep and lambs are a quarter lower.

MRS. STEVENS ENTERTAINS

Mrs. Louis Stevens entertained a large number of guests at her home on Elm street Friday afternoon with a Thanksgiving party. About 100 guests were present. The house was beautifully decorated in yellow and white. The favors were white daisies with yellow centers. In the receiving line were: Mrs. W. W. Jones, Mrs. Earl Ellis and Mrs. Stevens.

Miss Bonnie Miller gave several appropriate readings that were thoroughly enjoyed by the guests. Refreshments of ice cream, cake and mints were served.

The out-of-town guests were: Mrs. Harry Barnes of Clinton, Mrs. C. H. Ellis, Mrs. Parnella Deehrake and Mrs. Grover Manfort of Indianapolis.

Mrs. Roe Hall, who resides on north Jackson street, suffered a fainting spell, while in the ladies' rest room of the court house early this afternoon. A physician was called and administered medical aid and she was able to be taken to her home in a buggy a few hours later.

The little son of Dr. and Mrs. W. A. Moser, who with his mother are visiting Mr. and Mrs. George Dobbe on east Washington street, fell down the stairway at the Dobbs home this afternoon and dislocated its elbow. Dr. Moser is in Florida.

AMUSEMENTS.

It is scarcely necessary to go into details regarding the engagement of Lew Fields in his new musical comedy panorama, "All Aboard," which begins a three days' engagement at the Murat Theatre, Indianapolis, starting Thursday, November 27th, for his own personal reputation and that of the new play is a familiar topic with all theatregoers. "All Aboard" is a vehicle well adapted to the style of entertainment Mr. Fields has always typified. In it Fields interprets an old sailor man by the name of John Van Hann, who falls prey to two confidence men who make him captain of a ship sailing to his old home in Germany, for one hundred dollars. Jan parts with his last dollar willingly received a bum piece of paper which he believes to be a commission as the ship's master. When he arrives at the dock the real captain of the ship tells him he has been robbed. The ship pulls out and leaves him sitting on a coil of hemp rope, where he finally falls asleep and dreams he is the captain. The old salt sails forth with a merry crew and encounters all manner of droll absurd burlesque situations, including a peep into the year 2013 "When Women Rule." Ultimately Jan awakens from his slumber to find that it was all a very delightful dream. The book is from the pen of Mark Swan, the lyrics by F. Ray Goetz and the music by Malvin Franklin which naturally accounts for the great success of the piece. There are twenty-five catchy song hits, six novelty dances, features, to say nothing of the unusually large number of charming shows girls and the dancing "Fielders," once called "ponies" or "broilers." The company numbers one hundred people traveling in a special train consisting of four baggage cars and six standard sleepers. A special matinee will be given on Thanksgiving and Saturday.

The Fillmore basketball team defeated the Cloverdale team by a score of 29 to 13, in a game played at Cloverdale Friday afternoon. The Fillmore high school has developed a fast team and will schedule games with any high schools of this vicinity.
